Empowering the next generation with social and financial skills

Aflatoun International offers social and financial education. Through a strong network of 192 partner organisations, we reach 4.5 million children and young people in more than 100 countries, empowering them to create a more sustainable future. Aflatoun’s education is effective; its successful and innovative programmes have been recognised by Harvard Graduate School of Education and the Brookings Institution for its high-impact and low-cost scalability.

Aflatoun International creates programmes that are based on core curricula, for different age groups:

- Aflatot (3-6 years old), offering helpful learning experiences during early childhood, which lay the foundation for children to reach their full potential;

- Aflatoun (6-14 years old), building on a child’s natural curiosity and teaches them about their rights, saving and starting enterprises. For those without access to schools and disadvantaged children, Aflatoun Non-Formal Education has been developed;

- Aflateen (15-18 years old), stimulating young people to question their identity, learn about money and the economy, which prepares them for a complex and turbulent job market. Our eLearning Platform Aflateen Digital complements this programme;

- Aflayout (17-25 years old) aims at helping individuals to understand their goals in the labour market and make informed choices about their options in education, jobs, and entrepreneurship;

- Thematic content for specific circumstances addressing the world’s most pressing problems: Life Skills and Financial Education for Peace encouraging children and young people to become peacebuilders working towards social and economic growth in conflict-affected areas.

Worldwide, partners implement and contextualise these curricula, which currently exist in 45 languages. Some programmes have been adapted to specific circumstances, addressing the world’s most pressing problems for children and young people today, such as peace, girls’ vulnerability and youth employability. In addition, educators are trained to teach the Aflatoun child-centred, active learning method and 70 research projects have been conducted to validate the impact, effectiveness and quality of its programmes.

Aflatoun’s education is delivered through this unique network of partners, implementing the curricula worldwide, which is the foundational strength of the organisation. The dynamic, bottom-up network of interlinked partner organisations is based on reciprocal empowerment and they work together at all levels. Through this model, the International Secretariat facilitates and supports the members, who can share experiences and provide peer support. This is a high-impact / low-cost model, which accelerates scale-up of Aflatoun’s programmes. The organisation aims to reach 20 million children and young people by 2020.

Would your organisation like to become part of the Aflatoun network providing children and young people with the tools for a sustainable future? Any organisation that is committed to delivering high-quality social and financial education is eligible to join.

Besides becoming part of the network empowering millions of children and young people, there are important benefits of the partnership. From the moment you will become a member, your organisation will have access to Aflatoun’s core curricula and training materials. To support the growth and quality of social and financial education in your region, we will provide you with tools for advocacy and communications and give you technical support to deliver the programmes. On top of that, we will offer you monitoring and evaluation tools for evaluation, share our cross-country research publications and you can stand for regional representative in our board elections.

Other services we offer are:

- Develop a tailored curriculum for your specific needs;
- Develop digital tools for your programmes;
- Deliver training workshops for teachers and master trainers;
- Develop tailored monitoring and evaluation tools.
